

Example Professional Introduction

It is my pleasure to introduce our next speaker, Education Technology Consultant, Mr. Paul Ingallinera. Mr. Ingallinera is a graduate of Northeastern IL University, and for the last 4 years has been working with many companies and organizations setting up and using online education applications and content.

Mr. Ingallinera is mostly self-taught on the education applications he uses and takes great pleasure on passing on what he learned to companies and individuals so they may improve and grow professionally. One aspect of Mr. Ingallinera's career that he does not enjoy is watching people make bad decisions that lead to failure and not being able to do anything about it.

But, when he is not working, Paul likes to watch movies, cook, camp, hike, geocache, play games, and go to his sons' martial arts competitions.

Mr. Ingallinera is passionate about individual potential and stands behind these words... Never give up on your dreams. When you have finally achieved your dream, make sure you find a new dream. Dreams are what keep you alive.

So, without further delay, Mr. Paul Ingallinera.